Pink Spaghetti

If you dread the time of your child's birthday party and know it involves longer to-do lists as you find phone numbers for venues, caterers and entertainers and spend time phoning to check availability and pricing to suit you, then you will be delighted with the new service Pink Spaghetti Home PA Services has recently launched. Party planning from £10, with the most expensive option including sorting out party bags for just £25. "We are not a fancy party planning service" said Caroline, co-founder of Pink Spaghetti, "we do what the parents need and provide them with availability and pricing information for their exact price and date requirements". The service is designed for normal, busy parents, and as with all Pink Spaghetti services, there is no membership involved, just use them when you need them.
